Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

1. This is a response to the amendment dated 12/27/2006 and 2/13/2007. Claims 44-57 are pending. The amendments to claims 44 and 50 with respect to the Double patenting rejections are acknowledged. Therefore, the Double patenting rejections have been withdrawn. However, upon further consideration, the reference in view of Murdock is still considered to read on the claimed limitations of the claims noted.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 44,45,47-57 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Murdock (U.S. 3,044,461). Murdock discloses in figure 1, a device for providing access to a surgical location within a patient, including: an elongate body has a proximal end 12, a distal end 13 and defines a length between the proximal and distal ends such that the proximal end can be positioned outside the patient and the distal end can be positioned inside the patient adjacent the body cavity, and where an arcuate guide 40 (element 40 is known as a cam ring) which is inherently having an elongate length along a portion of the elongated body that is able to move from its contracted condition to its expanded condition(at best seen in figures 4-5). As to claim 50, Murdock discloses in fig. 5, a surgical device for providing access within a patient body, including a guiding mechanism comprising a curved elongated portion at 41 which is able to extend in a transverse direction along the elongate body which is moveable from its contracted condition to its expanded condition, where a passage extends through the elongate body between the proximal and distal end sized such that other surgical instrument (obturator, see fig. 13) can be positioned within the passage, where the elongate body is actuatable between a first configuration which is inserted into a patient and a second expanded configuration (see col. 4, lines 9-15), where the first location is distal to the second location, and where the elongate body comprises a metallic material (see col. 3, lines 19,20 and 59-65).

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claim 46 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 12/27/2006 and 2/13/2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The applicant argues that Murdock fails to teach an arcuate guide having an elongate length. The examiner, respectfully, disagrees. The phrase "an arcuate guide having an elongate length" in the claim is broad enough to mean that element 40 of Murdock is considered as an an arcuate guide having an elongate length along a portion of the elongated body which is moveable from its contracted condition to its expanded condition at best seen in fig. 5. Applicant's argument that Murdock fails to teach a guide mechanism comprising a curved elongated portion extending in a transverse direction. It is noted that fig. 5 of Murdock discloses that a guiding mechanism 40 comprising a curved elongated portion at 41 which is definitely having a transverse direction along the elongated body that is moveable from its contracted condition to its expanded condition.

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Victor X. Nguyen whose telephone number is (571) 272-4699. The examiner can normally be reached on M-F (8-4.30 P.M).
